SIMON IS SENSITIVE

Simon uses sensors to monitor your daily living environment.

- Door/window sensors to detect unwanted intrusions.
- Indoor and outdoor motion sensors to sense movement within the home or outdoors, including decks and patio areas.
- Lights can be turned on at scheduled times or when you walk into a room.

- Smoke sensors to detect and report a fire.
- Additional environmental sensors such as carbon monoxide and freeze detection.
- Optional listen-in and talk-back audio verification for communicating with the Central Station to verify or cancel an alarm.
- Off-premise phone control for arming/disarming and checking system status when you're away.

SIMON KEEPS WATCH OVER YOU

When the system detects a problem, a message is transmitted to the Central Monitoring Station.

- A window is forced open in the middle of the night.
- A fire breaks out while you are sleeping.
- An intruder is lurking around your patio furniture.
- The furnace breaks down, sending deadly carbon monoxide gas through your home.

- Your 11-year-old is late coming home from school.

The monitoring station, staffed 24 hours daily by trained professionals, will dispatch the appropriate help immediately.

Most importantly, your Simon system will sound a chime or alarm in your home, alerting you to the situation so you can act quickly and accordingly.

Your monitored Simon system keeps a watchful eye while you're at home or away.

SIMON KNOWS ABOUT KIDS

More and more working parents are finding it necessary to have their children come home to an empty house. Having these 'latchkey' kids home alone can be worrisome for parents. Simon is the perfect security solution. For instance, when your children arrive home, they merely disarm the security system. If the system hasn't been disarmed by a programmed time, Simon will notify the central monitoring station. While they are home, Simon will monitor the premises and warn them of potential dangers. In addition, the control panel can be programmed to call your office or pager, alerting you if they have not arrived home during the preset time.

SIMON LIGHTS YOUR WAY

Experts agree well-lighted areas are a deterrent to crime. Simon can control your lights whether you're home or away. Schedule your lights to come on or go off, or use Simon to turn lights on as you enter a room. With Simon at your fingertips, there's no need to walk through dark rooms or hallways. Simon lights the way.
